Feed your global dream

ABOUT BOLST GLOBAL

Bolst Global is an international consulting and outsourced export management company offering a host of marketing, lead generation and business development support services to health food, drink and supplement brands hungry for international growth and success.

Born out of a passion for international business and advocating the benefits of healthy nutrition and lifestyle, Bolst Global's vision is to inspire more UK entrepreneurs and business owners producing these kind of products to either start exporting or to proactively and strategically increase their amount of international trade.

Having worked for a number of international start-ups and increased revenues with other exporting businesses in the past, Victoria and the team at Bolst Global understand the constraints on rapidly growing brands when it comes to lack of time, scarce internal resources and very little international business knowhow and global contacts.

By becoming the 'go to' export support brand for health food, drink and supplement companies Bolst Global operates cross borders and cultures to give our clients in these areas the best possible advice, assistance and overall international advantage.

As our 'born global' client base grows so does our team of specialists, all of whom endorse the Bolst Global values and are dynamic and experienced international go getters!

"I had the pleasure of working with the Bolst Global team on a food and drink trade mission to Bratislava, Slovakia. They were a tremendous asset, seamless extension of our trade team at the Chamber of Commerce in Slovakia. Bolst Global's contacts, flexibility, in-depth knowledge and experience helped us to deliver a successful Meet the Byer event."

International Trade

"The Bolst Global team are passionate and committed to helping UK businesses grow into international markets, with a positive and driven attitude. In November 2016, they have worked with DIT in the Yorkshire and the Humber region to deliver an International Marketing Masterclass event aimed at getting businesses in the Yorkshire region to start exporting for the first time and break into new overseas markets. The event was a huge success, largely due to the hard work that the team has put in as they chaired the event.

Combining both their own experience and their unique research they are an asset for anyone looking to grow their business".

Battleoats has used the BG Ignite service.

"The Bolst Global team's work ethic and tenacity to win business is why we brought them on board as the Export Manager for the Battle Oats brand. They are extremely personable and have real emotional intelligence allowing them to build strong relationships with new export customers incredibly quickly."
